

Moroni Winterton Barn

This Charleston barn is located at 2830 West 2400 So. It was built by the William H Winterton family, for Moroni Winterton family. It is constructed of native red pine and finished about 1920. Moroni and his wife, Susie Mabel Giles Winterton's yellow brick home had been finished in 1912, which is also on this property.

The barn has been used for hay storage, farm animals and implement storage through many years.

Subsequent owners have been: Moroni Winterton, then Heber R Winterton obtained it in 1923. Later, a Dr Green from Salt Lake City purchased it and ran Black Angus cattle on it. Later, Earl and Joseph Collard of Ogden, bought it and had a dairy operation there. Then Gilbert Olsen ran a dairy operation on it. Later, Sharon J Winterton purchased it. The barn still serves well and is strong, upright and useable for Sharon after these 78 years. The home now belongs to Kent Winterton.

Moroni Winterton Barn

This Charleston barn is located at 2830 W 2400 So. and was built by Elisha Webster, of the same community. It is constructed of native red pine and finished in 1912. Moroni and his wife, Susie Mabel Giles Winterton's yellow brick home had been finished in 1912, which is also on this property.

It has been used for hay storage, farm animals and implement storage, through the years, by the original and subsequent owners. These owners were, in turn: Moroni Winterton, Heber W. Winterton obtained it in about 1923, then a Dr Green, from Salt Lake City, invested in it. Later, Joseph and Earl Collard, of Ogden, owned it and ~~ran sheep~~ <sup>dairy</sup> on this farm. Even later, Gilbert Olsen ran a dairy operation there. Then Sharon J Winterton bought it. Now, ~~Kent Winterton owns it~~. The barn is still strong, upright and useable, after these 83 years. I wish, of the rest of us, at this age, the same could be said.
